

Security Consultant

As a Security Consultant you are responsible for the further development of the Mission Control service-palette, the scalability of operation and sales.

You have a university degree that is comparable to an ETH degree. You speak and write both English and German – the knowledge of other foreign languages is an advantage.

We expect you to bring some of the following skills to the table:

- Knowledge of operational challenges that global organizations/networks are faced with
- You are looking forward to direct client relations as well as active participation in acquisitions and immediate success on the front line is your incentive
- Based on market research and client-needs you are in charge of structuring and documenting our service portfolio.
